Consisting of a collaboration between two musicians, AFAR seeks to bridge the distance between the natural and the industrial, exploring the paradox between organic and electronic.

In some spaces, AFAR might build dance-oriented rhythms layered with haunting vocals. Whereas in others, the band creates moments of ambience composed of multi-instrumental soundscapes.

●○ analog, live.

“Seeing AFAR live, was one of these moments that I felt both very inspired and connected. With the fragile sounds of Windspiel and Kalimba, two mysterious voices, analog synthesizers, drum machines and electric guitar, they take you on a journey, that is both intimate and ecstatic.

Close your eyes to find yourself in a mesmerizing cinematic world, comparable to the surreal vibe of a Jim Jarmusch movie, and open them to realize the dynamic duo creates every sound of that score live on stage”

Technical Rider

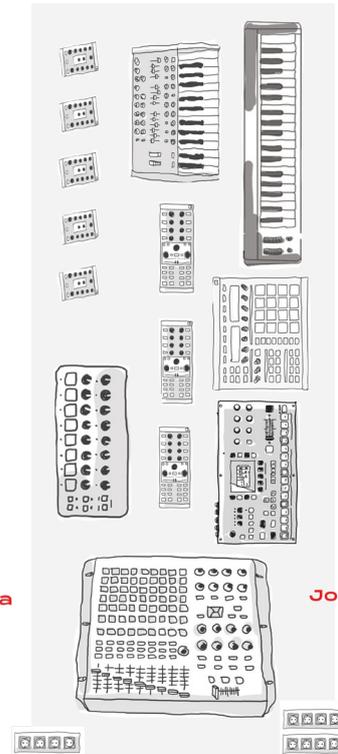

Sound:

- 1 table, min. 200cmx100cm
- 12 (!) free plug sockets
- 1 mic stand
- free Stereo channel for our Out-signal (we use our own mixer SSL Six, Main Out via XLR)
- Monitoring: AFAR will use InEar Monitoring connected to their Mixer- a safe space to store our equipment before and after the gig
- approx. 40 min build up time, 20 min for soundcheck and 30 min to pack and clear the stage
- Please note: AFAR uses microphones on stage! A microphone in front of a speaker causes feedback. A subwoofer is also a speaker!

Lights:

- proper fog machine or hazer is mandatory
- A warm white PinSpot illuminating our big Gong would be very nice. The Gong is hanging centered behind our Table
- dark mysterious atmosphere preferred
- The light can be as intense as it can get. We like a lot of energy and huge dynamics. It can be extremely dark (we have small lights on our gear so we can keep playing) to big pulsing backlights or even better: strobes.
- Preferably 'warmer' colors. We prefer almost no green.
- Smoke and stroboscope, keep it trippy, psychedelic, exiting, intense and have fun :)
